Work of eliminating nuisance conditions at Andover's dumping site off Chandler rd. got underway this week. Tons of gravel are being used to cover the area and give it a tidy appearance. The work is being done by the board of public works under the direction of Highway Superintendent Stanley Chlebowski and Town Manager Thomas E. Duff.

Appeal Board Grants Permit

Permission has been granted by the board of appeals for the remodeling of the carriage house at 40 Walnut ave. into an apartment. The favorable action was taken on the petition of Brooks Whitehouse Jr. following a public hearing on June 4. The decision was handed down Monday.

When renovated, the apartment will have two bedrooms and a bath on the first floor and a living room, dining space and kitchen on the second floor.

There was no opposition to the conversion of the carriage house into living quarters.

In granting the permission the board placed three conditions in the decision. First that there shall be no outside structural change other than a window to be placed in the rear of the second floor. Secondly that the window on the second floor of the front apartment shall be changed to conform to the general character and architecture of the carriage house. A final condition stipulated that steps approved by the building inspector be constructed to the front door suitable for the converted carriage house apartment.

The board found that granting of the permit would not be detrimental to the neighborhood and that the conversion of the structure once used as a shop, "is suitable for this property which otherwise might not be put to suitable use".

Repairs Made At Reservoir

The town reservoir on Prospect Hill was drained this week for repairs. The stone lining of the open reservoir became loosened in one place and had to be removed and set back again with cement.

The repairs were made on the south westerly side of the facility by employees of the department of public works.

The clay-dike type reservoir has a capacity of 565,000 gallons. While it is undergoing repairs, water will be supplied from other reservoirs in the town.

GETTING READY FOR GRID DRILLS

Richard J. Collins, Andover High school's new football coach is preparing a list of instructions for boys who will report for football this fall. The gridiron mentor has held discussions with Athletic Director Donald D. Work of improving the town dumping site on Chandler rd. began this week under the direction of Stanley Chlebowski, highway superintendent at the request of Town Manager Thomas E. Duff.

A bulldozer was put to work at the dumping site and pushed back tons of material which had been thrown in all directions and much of which has been burning and causing a smoke nuisance in the neighborhood.

Truckloads of gravel are being transported to the scene and this gravel is being leveled to give the dump an orderly look. Some half dozen highway dump trucks are being used in the operation.

Meanwhile, quantities of industrial waste continue to burn. These compounds burn for days and are too hot to approach. The highway superintendent said Tuesday that he plans to clear off a separate location for this matter so that it may be better controlled.

The town owned land consists of about 25 acres which has been used as a disposal site for some 15 years. When it was closed on Sunday, those taking rubbish to the fenced in area simply threw it over the fence or dumped it outside the fence.

The selectmen, especially member Philip K. Allen, asked the town manager to see if something could not be done to remedy the situation which was discussed at several meetings of the board.

The gate to the dump is now left open on Sunday and this has

Meteor Shower Will Be Seen In Heavens This Month

Ever make a wish upon a "shooting star"? Did you know it was not a star at all, but a meteor?

You can have your fill of wishes next week when the annual meteor shower known as "the Perseids" flashes across the night sky. This gorgeous display can best be seen after the moon has set on the night of August 12. You'll have to stay up late, however, to do your wishing, because the moon, which will be just past its first quarter, doesn't disappear below the horizon until 12:48 a.m.

A meteor, according to John Patterson, director of the Charles Hayden Planetarium at Boston's Museum of Science, is simply a tiny particle of cosmic matter traveling through space at a terrific speed.

These particles are invisible until they reach the earth's atmosphere — from 80 to 85 miles up — where friction heats them to incandescence. They usually burn out between 25 and 40 miles above the earth's surface. Some of the particles may enter our atmosphere at speeds greater than 150,000 miles per hour.

The meteors of the annual August shower have been known as "the Perseids" since 1834, when an American, Professor John Locke, discovered that they radiate from a point in the constellation Perseus. Irish peasants called them "the tears of St.
Lawrence," whose festival occurs on the tenth.

"The Perseids" is the most spectacular and dependable meteor shower of the year, Patterson says. The meteors are very swift, except those near the radiant point in the constellation.
They are yellow in color and many are bright and leave a train of light behind them.

A pair of patient observers with the whole sky in view should be able to count a meteor a minute when the shower reaches its peak.

Until recently meteor showers were considered a thrilling sight in the night sky, but of no practical use. Now, however, scientists are exploring their possibilities as potential aids to radio communication.

Radio-telescope sightings of daytime meteor falls have been made and the earth has been found to be under almost continual bombardment from meteor dust. The energy of their motion, as these tiny specks of cosmic matter hit the earth's atmosphere, charges, or ionizes, the surrounding air molecules.
Although the meteorite burns out almost instantly the air affected by its passage may remain ionized for several minutes. In this state, the air will readily reflect radio signals.

RURAL YOUTH STUDY
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nason of West Boxford will be host to Chea Kong of Cambodia from August 1 to August 10. Mr. Kong is one of countries visiting in Massachusetts to study 4-H Club work, and other youth organizations. The other 10 leaders will be visiting in other counties.

The purpose of these visits is to establish friendly relations, understand family living in the United States, exchange ideas and learn techniques in conducting youth programs.

Andover Breaks Win Streak Of Methuen

Andover's Junior League nine broke the 15-straight victory string of Methuen Tuesday night by handing the visiting team a 1-0 defeat at the playstead. It was the eighth triumph for Andover in the last nine games and gave the club a 10-5 record for the season, placing the club in second position.

The lone run of the game came in the last of the first when Kent Warner reached first on a walk, advanced to second and third on passed balls and scored when Al Taylor singled to right.

Dave Murphy pitched a thrilling one-hitter for the Andover nine while he and his mates were collecting four hits off Methuen's Chadwick.

THE NEW NEW ENGLAND

Vacation Travel = BIG Business

New England plays host to more than 8,000,000 visitors each year. A billion dollar business in our six states, vacation travel is second only to manufacturing as the region's largest dollar earner.

While most of the vacationers presently come from the Northeastern United States and Eastern Canada, 600 mile-an-hour jet planes are extending New England's potential market even to the most distant states and other countries.

No other section of the United States has so much to offer the vacationer in so compact a package. As naturally endowed as Marilyn Monroe, New England has sparkling ocean beaches, peaceful lakes and streams, rugged mountains (16 of them over 5,000 feet), verdant woodlands, summer and winter sports, plus countless historic and cultural attractions. You name it and New England has it — all within an easy day's drive.

Vacationists' dollars filter down to practically all segments of our economy. Every one of us should be a helpful and courteous member of a vast New England reception committee to help the visitor feel at home and make him want to return.

This message was prepared by The New England Council for Economic Development and is published by this newspaper as a public service in cooperation with the New England Daily Newspaper Association and the New England Weekly Press Association.

How many worlds do you live in?

Try counting them now. There's the world of finance . . . and the world of fun. The world of suns and sons. The world of work and play. The world of laughs and tears. And all of them, these days especially, seem to be moving so fast.

Things happen faster than they did when we were kids. Our worlds spin faster. 24 hours flash by like 8. Our lives are eaten up in big bites.

That's why you'll find The Globe so fascinating. All the worlds you live in are in The Globe. Made somehow simpler and easier to understand. Slowed down a bit so you can enjoy them more. Easier for a harried Homo-not-too-sapiens to handle in the time he has. News, halfway around the world, national news, next door news, news of what's happening inside you. All in The Globe. Apple Growers Report Service

The special apple market reporting service of the Mass. Department of Agriculture will be resumed for the 1959-60 season as soon as the shipping season becomes active, Charles H. Callahan, Market Investigator for the Division of Markets has announced. Continuous support of this work on the part of Massachusetts and

New England fruit growers, and their endorsement of the type of material used in this work, is convincing evidence of the need for this type of report, which will be in its 36th year of publication. These reports serve as a comprehensive coverage of the apple deal, both in respect to market quotations, storage holdings, crop movement, Government regulations, and other related matters.

Detailed reports will be issued on prices prevailing at Boston on nearby and shipped-in fruit, together with reports from outside markets such as Worcester, Springfield, Providence, New York City, and other sectional shipping points. The valued Mid-week Massachusetts country shipping point prices will be continued in detail.

The frequent reports on standard and controlled atmosphere storage holdings will be continued throughout the storage season. These holdings will be broken down into the leading varieties for this section, with special emphasis on McIntosh apples. During the fall, prices on other nearby fruit, such as peaches, pears and grapes, will also be included.

Check Made On Home Addresses

A check on house numbers throughout the town is now being made by the board of assessors. The action is being taken following a review intended to correct discrepancies.

Post cards signed by Archibald D. McLaren, assessor, are being sent to home owners advising them of the correct address of their dwelling. Under Massachusetts law, residents must use the number assigned by the town.

The action is taken to set up a list of correct address for all sections of the town to be used by town departments. It is especially important to the police and fire departments which must respond to emergency calls.

Fire officials reported that on several occasions they have responded to calls from home owners who gave them an address which was not the official one assigned by the town. This caused delay and confusion.

Other important factors in the establishing of proper dwelling numbers regard the delivery of mail and parcel service. Town officials have asked the cooperation of home owners in the present program and request that the proper number be displayed on the front of the house.

Denied Permit For Conversion

The board of appeals in a decision filed Tuesday denied the petition of Rachel E. Douglass for permission to convert from a one family dwelling at 299 South Main st. into a two family dwelling. The petitioner asked a permit to make two rooms on the first floor of a 10 room house into an apartment with one room to be a bedroom and living room and the other to be a kitchen and dining area.

A hearing on the petition was held July 9 at which there was no opposition to the petition. The board commented that "this is one of Andover's better residential areas" and ruled that the permit could not be granted because it would be detrimental to the neighborhood and would be a derogation of the intent and purpose of the by-law.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Town Insurance Popular

The town employees' insurance program, approved by the voters at the last annual town meeting appears to have won wide approval from those eligible to participate.

Of approximately 338 individuals who may take advantage of the life insurance benefits, 300 have already signed up. The cost of this coverage on the town employees is $570 a month. Half of this is paid by the town and the other half contributed by the employees.

Those working for the town are now receiving greater Blue Cross, Blue Shield and prolonged illness coverage than they did when it was a matter of each employee subscribing on an individual basis. Formerly, benefits varied. Under the terms of the present contract each employee is covered up to $14 a day. The figure is the same for everyone.

For this health, surgical and prolonged illness insurance, the town contributes the sum of $1565.47 a month while the employees turn in $1568.24 a month. The difference is occasioned by the fact that when it comes to a matter of odd cents, the employees contribute the pennies.

The program went into effect on July 1 and officials in the town treasurer's office have been busy since that time making out the forms and preparing reports.

Blue Cross, Blue Shield coverage for an individual is estimated to cost $3.53 while for a family the charge is $8.13. Enrollment in this phase of the program is better than 75 percent of all town employees which meets the requirements of the insurance firms involved.

One of the reasons why some of the town employees have not enrolled in this category is because they are already covered by virtue of other members of the family having taken out the same type of insurance previously.

However, town officials report that 271 have enrolled in the Blue Cross-Blue Shield category which represents a high percentage.

Blanket insurance coverage these days is provided by most communities as well as individual corporations. Those covered have ease of mind in knowing they are protected and as a result are better workers.

Let's Have A Change

Some well deserved criticism was leveled at radio programming last week by a couple of pretty prominent men, one of them a Roman Catholic priest and the other an official of the Boston Y.M.C.A.

They were speakers at a Protestant conference held in Framingham.

Alden Eberle, assistant general secretary of the Boston Y.M.C.A. said that radio programs were "monotonous, routine, repetitious, mediocre". He told the Congregational Conference that listeners should write to the Federal Communications Commission and complain about the continuously poor programs offered by certain broadcasters. He pointed out that the air waves belong to the public and those stations not operating in the public interest should not have their licenses renewed.

Rev. John J. Grant, associate editor of The Pilot said that radio and TV audiences are not getting proper programming. He remarked that those in "thinking positions" in communications may have to be replaced.

Both of these men are so right. During the summer months when many are on vacation they listen a great deal more to their radios either in the car or at their summer residences.

All day long its the same dose. Disc jockeys playing over and over again numbers that could appeal only to the juvenile mind. In addition, the listener must put up with the personal corn with which most of these fellows appear to be filled.

The time has come for the public to demand some action. Radio and TV entertainment could be a whole lot better.

AUTO CRASH — Four young people were injured when car shown above struck a tree on High st. last Thursday night. Car skidded, jumped stone wall and crashed through iron fence before contacting tree. Police said impact was so great it knocked one youth out of his clothes (shown in foreground).

Teen-Agers Hurt In Local Crash

A 14-year-old Lawrence teenager is still under treatment at Lawrence General Hospital for injuries sustained last Thursday night when the car in which she and three others were riding struck a tree on High st.

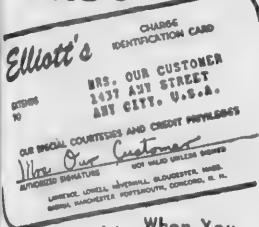

Nice Ouellette, 15, 4 Winslow st., Lawrence, suffered a severe laceration of the head and a skull injury.

The others who were taken to the hospital for treatment were Augustine LeMay, 18, 43 Holly st., Frank Sandor, 21, 133 Essex st., and Rose Ouellette, 18, 4 Winslow st., all of Lawrence.

Police reported the car was traveling over High st. in the direction of the square when it skidded at the base of High st. Hill at the intersection of Harding st. and struck a tree, after which it continued on and came in contact with a fence. When it stopped it was turned in the opposite direction. It was badly damaged and had to be towed from the scene.

Sgt. James R. Lynch was alerted to the accident at 10:55 p.m. and sent the fire department ambulance to the scene. The police cruiser was also used to transport the young people to the hospital.

Ever Hear The Story of the Invisible Overcoat?

(If you have, stop us.)

Once upon a time a salesman went on a business trip. Returning to the home office, he submitted his expense account to his salesmanager, who objected to the item "One overcoat, $75." "OK," said the salesman without hesitation, "Take it off."

When the salesman submitted his next expense account, the salesmanager remarked that he was glad no overcoat was included this time. "Oh, it's back in there again," replied the salesman, "only this time you can't see it."

Are you paying for "invisible overcoats" when you buy groceries? A store's only income has to come from the sale of goods on its shelves. If anything is thrown in "for free" its cost has to come out of the pockets of the store's customers. There is no other source.

At the CO-OP, we have no "invisible overcoats." Our prices are as low as we dare make them. That is saving number one. Surpluses go back to you as cash rebates. That is saving number two.

We think that is a good way to sell groceries. Don't you?

*Have you the insight to "see" the invisible?

FRUIT PESTS

A second, high peak of apple maggot fly emergence occurred during last week. Growers should maintain full protection on all varieties and be ready to apply emergency treatments to early apples whenever flies become active in the trees. The critical period for apple maggot control is here.

Getting a laugh a long way from home was Ronald F. McKay, left, former resident of Salem st. who was one of those assigned as escorts to Comedian Bobe Hope when the latter entertained troops at a U.S. Air Base at Reykjavik, Iceland. Airman McKay attended Andover schools before entering the service.

Andover National Guardsmen With 26th Yankee Division

Andover men will be among the officers and enlisted personnel of the 26th Yankee Infantry Division which leaves Friday for Camp Drum, N. Y., for annual maneuvers.

The movement to summer camp will be by motorcade this year. An idea of the extent of this operation is provided by the fact that just one column of the division will extend 135 miles.

In effect this means that when the head of this column of jeeps, trucks, ambulances and service and retrieving equipment enters Albany, New York, on August 7, the tail will be pulling out of Interchange No. 10 of the Massachusetts Turnpike at Worcester! Another column carrying over 2,000 National Guard artillerymen and utilizing a route further North, will stretch from its initial point at the intersection of Routes 2 and 128, up 2 and Route 12 through Keene, New Hampshire!

"This will pose no great problem to civilian traffic," said Colonel Raymond A. Wilkinson, YD Chief of Staff. "All of our logistical planning has taken into consideration all factors of traffic flow, to enable us to accomplish our mission with the least possible inconvenience to the motoring public."

All of the huge convoys will leave at different times over a period of 3 days. The YD will make the best possible use of turnpikes, - both Massachusetts and the New York Thruway. The columns will maintain a constant speed, keep to the right hand lane and utilize time gaps of 18 to 20 minutes between the many march serials of each column. The regulated road halts for the troops will pull the columns over into the "breakdown" lane of the pike leaving the other four lanes for civilian and industrial vehicles.

"Even the potential bottlenecks which could occur at the toll gates will be eliminated," said Major Westcott. "The military vehicles will be put through the outside pens without stopping as each serial approaches with tickets taken by turnpike authorities and a count kept by staff officers of the division."

The moving columns will utilize their own radio equipment for control. If a Serial Commander at the head of a column encounters a problem, he will notify the serial commanders following him.

Petty's SAFE DRIVING

Lee Petty, famed racing driver, NASCAR champion, and Daytona Beach 500 mile winner in 1959, now serving as road test manager for National Dynamics Corporation, manufacturers of the battery additive VX-6, offers these six professional SAFE DRIVING tips.

• Slow down as you approach a curve but accelerate slightly while you're on it. Power on the curves gives you better traction and stability than brakes.

• Don't use bright lights. The only excuse for brights is when you're going at high speed, all alone, with no traffic, on a completely unlit country road in order to spot curves ahead. Since this situation seldom occurs for most drivers—just don't use your brights.

• Be polite to motorists and rude to your passengers. Never take your eyes off the road while conversing and driving.

• Keep your tires hard. Inflate your tires a little more than the maximum recommended by the manufacturer. You won't get any abuse as long as your shock absorbers and springs are in good condition . . . and you'll get a better ride—even more mileage for your gas.

• Keep the rubber casing of your battery clean by wiping occasionally with an oil soaked rag. Also keep the leads at maximum efficiency by cleaning terminals and battery leads with steel wool.

• Learn to use the best and most scientific additives. Use a battery additive to prolong the life of your battery.

CLEARING AND COVERING OF DUMP AREA UNDERWAY

eliminated some of the difficulty experienced when it was locked.

It was brought out at one meeting that disposal of trees was a big problem at the dump. The trees are brought from locations where new building is in progress.

Many of the trees and limbs were burning at the site while the board of public works men went about the task of cleaning up the dump. These were being pushed back where the banking drops off to a depth of about 20 feet.

When the dump has been cleaned up, residents will be asked to throw their refuse over the bank. With the use of a bulldozer at intervals, it is felt the dump can be kept in a reasonably tidy condition.

There has been increased use of the dump due to the increase in population in Andover. Already town officials are looking about for another site which may be used for dumping.

Officials are of the opinion that some residents over the line in Lawrence have been using the dump. When the present clean up job has been completed, police will be asked to check and assure that the dump is used only by residents of the town.
